

Interview Worksheet

You can interview anyone. Maybe you will call a grandparent or talk to a friend. You will find out what they know about coho salmon and about helping endangered species.

Tips for Interviewing

- Ask open-ended questions.
- Listen. Ask questions in response to what they say. Say, “Tell me more,” or “Please say more about that.”
- Allow for silence and pauses.
- Be polite. Start with comfortable greetings. Explain your project. Ask permission to record. Say thank you.

Questions to Ask

About Endangered Species:

Do you know about any things that have been done to help endangered species?
Please tell me about them.

---

---

---

---

---

What do you think could make efforts to help endangered species successful?

---

---

---

---

---

How much do you think humans should help endangered species? Why?

---

---

---

---

---

continued on next page...

About Salmon:

What do you know about salmon's life cycle and where they live?

---

---

---

---

---

What do you know about the challenges salmon face? What do you know about what is being done to help them?

---

---

---

---

---

Do you know anything specifically about coho salmon (also called silver salmon)?

---

---

---

---

---